

Higher Education

Higher education organizations are facing increasingly complicated technological, financial, regulatory and reputational challenges. For these organizations to continue to perform at their best, they need to know there is a skilled and dedicated team of industry leading professionals behind them. King & Spalding has organized a higher education practice group which combines lawyers across the firm's existing practices who work with colleges and universities to effectively and seamlessly support and advise our higher education clients on a wide variety of complex and cutting-edge issues.

Cases & Deals

September 19, 2024

Nuclear Regulatory Commission Issues Construction Permit for King & Spalding Client Natura Resources' Molten Salt Reactor To Be Deployed at ACU

June 21, 2024

Nuclear Regulatory Commission Construction Permit Issuance Expected in September for King & Spalding client Natura Resource's Molten Salt Reactor to be deployed at ACU

May 25, 2022

K&S advises Fulbright University Vietnam pro bono on new campus project

VIEW ALL

News

IN THE NEWS

October 22, 2024

Paul Mezzina, Joshua Mitchell, David Balser, Brandon Keel and Elliott Foote represent Emory University before the Eleventh Circuit, which vacated and remanded a Georgia federal judge's certification of a proposed class of tuition payers in a parent's lawsuit seeking refunds for the university's switch to remote learning during the pandemic

PRESS RELEASE

September 9, 2024

Prominent Trial Lawyer Will Stute Joins King & Spalding's

Capability Lawyers

Patrick M. Collins
Chicago

Letitia A. McDonald (Tish)
Atlanta

Product Liability and Mass Torts Practice Group in Miami

IN THE NEWS

September 9, 2024

Trial partner Will Stute joins the firm's Product Liability and Mass Torts practice group in Miami

VIEW ALL
