

Leveraged Finance

Our Leveraged Finance practice brings together more than 100 lawyers in offices across the United States, Europe, Middle East and Asia. Our highly integrated team includes dedicated bank finance and private credit & direct lending practitioners, with proven track records across the capital structure and industries, ranging from bilateral or single-lender deals to broadly syndicated, multi-tranche and multicurrency deals. We focus on our clients' most complex challenges, bringing our deep industry knowledge and experience to execute on high-value financing transactions and in developing new financial products for the market. Our depth and diversity of talent creates a unique ability to advise clients in the various dynamics of financing transactions ranging from early-stage venture capital and private equity backed investments to navigating the turbulent headwinds of distressed situations.

With lawyers in global financial centers, including New York, London, Paris and Singapore, we bring a commercial understanding of domestic and international financing markets to provide targeted advice across offices in an efficient and commercially savvy manner. Our experience includes representing traditional and non-traditional lenders, private credit and debt funds, arrangers, investors, funds, borrowers, issuers, underwriters and sponsors across the full range of complex financings. In all transactions, the team combines both borrower and lender expertise to provide ambidextrous representation. We empower our clients in the market by driving peer-to-peer engagement and discourse.
